Following is a short study in May 2023 by photographer Karyn Easton of the beautiful light at the MACBA (Museum of Contemporary Arts in Barcelona). The images were taken using a smart-phone around midday. The museum is an amazing space with large windows allowing the sunlight to stream in. These images are an attempt to photographically recreate the beauty and atmosphere found within that space.

Reflections, refractions and shadows all captured in one image

Red glass creates a beautiful pink light

Roof windows allowing light to stream in

*An outdoor scene captured in a
staircase window*

Light and shadows through a narrow window

Often, the reflected light, is the light that is much more revealing...

Reflections

Leading Lines

*Pink light created
from red glass
panels*

Light and
shadows cast
onto the walkway*

*Light casting shadows through a small window. The waste bins create a splash of colour against an otherwise neutral
background*
